Town budgets go on the line

By WENDY HANSCOM

It's town budget time again, and once again holding the line is the bottom line for local selectmen.

Faced with declining state support, but rising school, county and insurance costs, selectmen are trying hard not to balance their budgets at the expense of already scaled back town services.

As always, much of each town's budget is out of the selectmen's control. School assessments, county taxes and insurance rates make up about 60 percent of the budget in most area towns—and selectmen have little say over these costs.

And most town budgets have already been cut back hard in the past two years—leaving the selectmen little room for financial maneuvering.

But nevertheless, most local officials say they are optimistic they can keep this year's taxes—or at least the portion that goes to fund town services—steady.

Last year Upton, Greenwood, Woodstock, and Andover officials aggressively tried to cut municipal spending. This year officials in these towns and others are proposing funding most of their services at last year's level, hoping to keep any tax increases to a minimum.

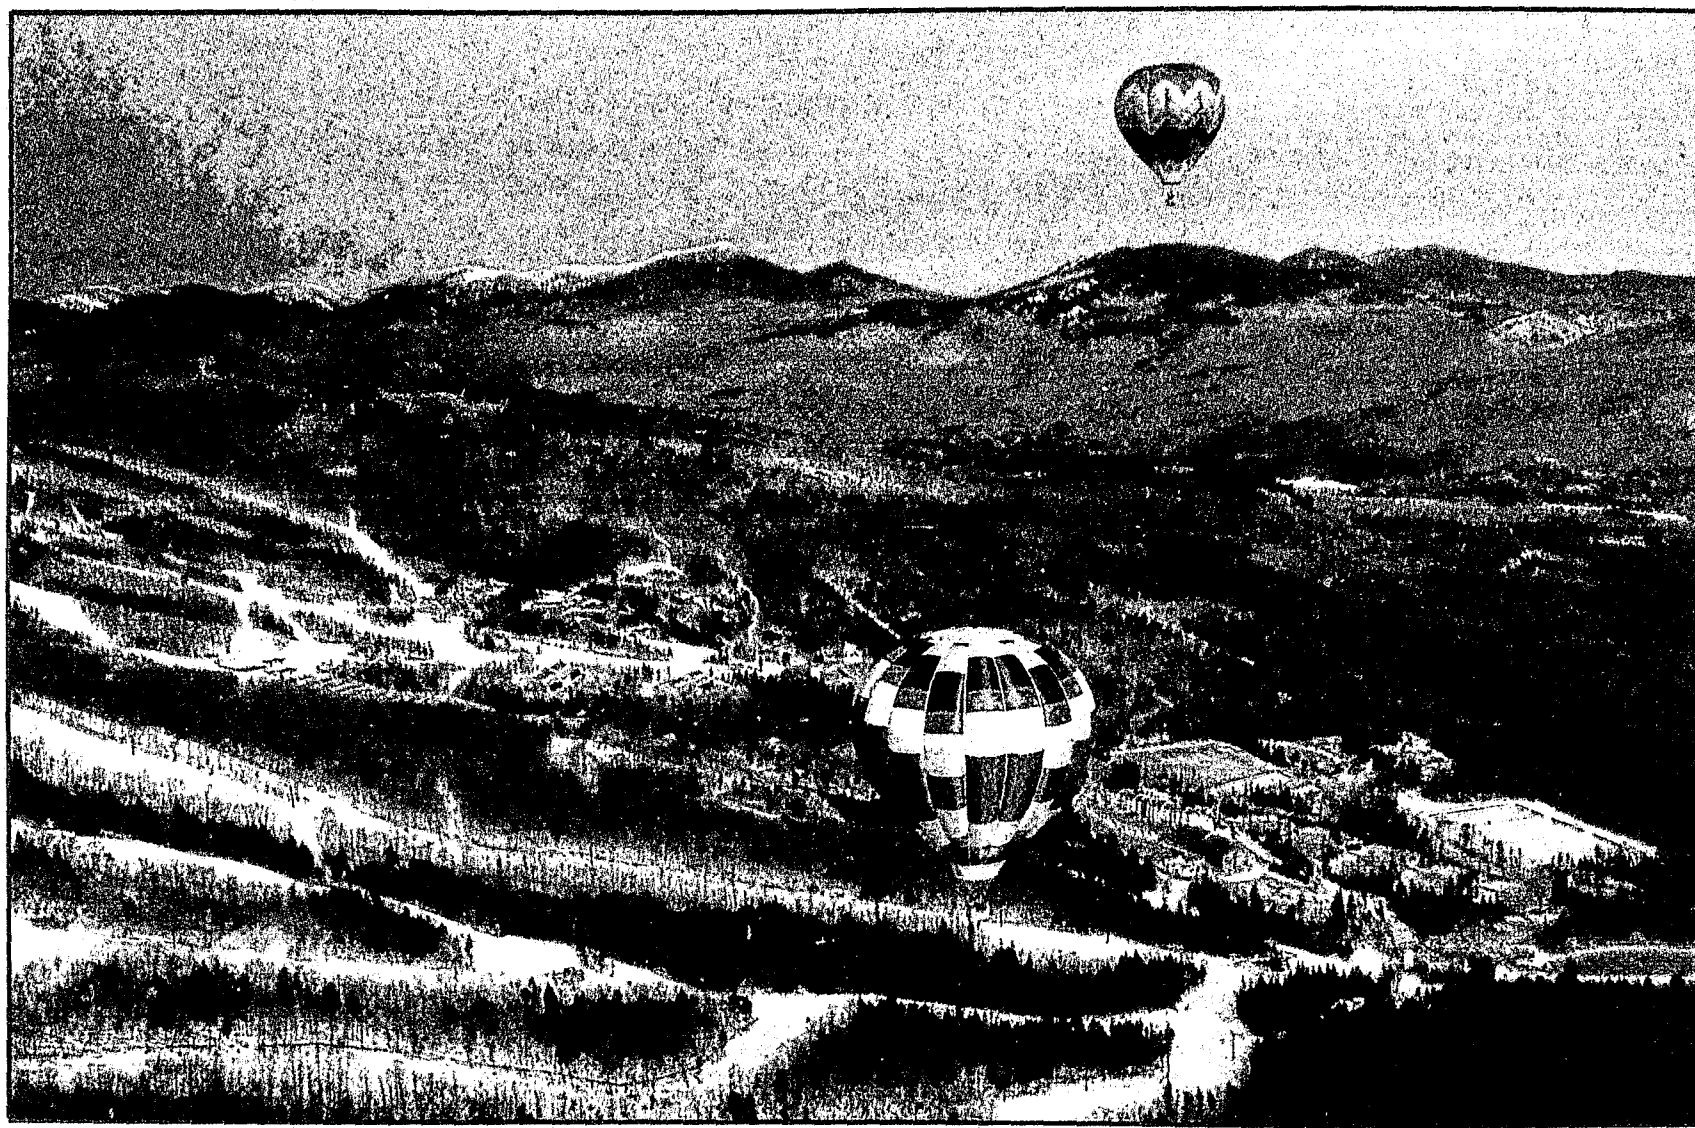

Newry and Woodstock officials are even predicting that their town budgets will decrease.

Woodstock

Woodstock Town Manager Vern Maxfield said overall his budget should be down by about $20,000. Cuts in county taxes, legal fees, and selectmen and planning board member expenses account for much of the decrease, he said.

"We looked at the expenditures we had this past year, and figured as close to them as we could," Maxfield said.

Kids love to learn at Mt. Abram

"We're trying our best to make this sport available to local kids and their families. It's not just a sport for the affluent."

Woody Woodward
Jack Frost Ski School Director

By WENDY HANSCOM

Fun, learning, safety—that's the motto of many ski schools, but Ralph Woodward, director of Mt. Abram's Jack Frost Ski School, says skiing goes beyond these things.

"To me, fun is things like going to Old Orchard Beach or the fair," Woodward said. "Skiing goes beyond that. It goes much deeper. Skiing is not instant gratification. It's not a short term goal, it's a lifetime experience. It's a very satisfying sport. Where else can you go outside and get good air and good exercise in the winter."

Woodward is an examiner for Professional Ski Instructors of America. He also heads the ski school program at Mt. Abram. The school includes 35 instructors, who make it their goal to safely teach children and adults the skills needed for a lifetime of skiing satisfaction, Woodward said.

"We get kids involved," Woodward said. "We're trying our best to make this sport available to local kids and their families. It's not just a sport for the affluent."

This year, about 160 kids from age three and up take lessons at Mt. Abram every weekend. The students come from all over western and southwestern Maine, Woodward said. For $100, the youngsters get 10, two-hour lessons every weekend from the end of December through March.

"We've had some less than compatible weather this year, and those little tykes have been right out there," Woodward said. "They've skied right in the rain some weekends. They'll become better skiers for it, too, because they've skied in all conditions. We stress slope etiquette and safety."

They're able to ski safely with themselves and other people. The most important thing is that they have fun. If they're safe and having fun then they'll learn."

Woodward speaks with matter-of-fact pride about Mt. Abram's facility and the experience of his instructors. "We have a superb beginner's area," Woodward said. "We have the best

Timber sale appeal on hold

The supervisor of the White Mountain National Forest has postponed his decision on the appeal challenging the proposed Wild River timber sales.

The decision, originally expected by the end of last month, will now be put off until possibly late March.

The timber sales plan, the largest in the history of the Evans Notch Ranger District, was drawn up by the local U.S. Forest Service staff. It calls for harvesting on 1,000 acres, 127 of which would be clear cut. (See The Citizen, Jan. 22.)

The plan also calls for building a quarter-million-dollar bridge across the Wild River.

The appeal—filed by six individuals from Massachusetts, New York, Vermont and New Hampshire—challenged the sale primarily on the grounds that the required environmental analysis was inadequate and that the proposed cutting violated the intent of the 1986 Forest Plan, which is intended to guide management activities in the WMNF.

The appeal will be decided by WMNF Forest Supervisor Rick D.

Rebels cop MVC nordic crowns

Telstar High School captured both the boys' and girls' nordic titles in the Mountain Valley Conference ski championships held last Wednesday at Carabassett Valley Ski Touring Center.

The alpine squad fared less well last week, however, as an icy course sent too many Rebel boys tumbling—while lack of numbers left the girls unable to capitalize on two first place finishes by Robin Michaud in the giant slalom and slalom.

In the nordic events, Telstar girls took four places in the top 10. Shilo Hutchins placed second, followed by her younger sister Misty in fourth, Crystal Chase in sixth and Amy Hannon in ninth. With so many girls in the top ten, Telstar edged out Leavitt High School, 21-26.

Guard admits lower flights may hurt tourism

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Air National Guard has acknowledged that the tourist industry could be "adversely affected" if the Guard goes ahead with its plan to lower the flight operations floor in the Condor Military Operations Area and other Northeast training areas.

The acknowledgement came in a just-released draft environmental impact statement (EIS) on the plan.

"Impacts on this type of economic activity are very difficult to forecast," the EIS concludes, but the economic impact of low-flying military aircraft "would be most likely to occur in areas where tourist visitations are based on out-of-door, primitive and wilderness-type experiences."

The EIS then goes on to claim that in regions considered for lower operating floors, "tourism did not provide more than a 5 percent contribution to the total economic activity of the region."

But in western Maine that 5 percent

Recycling bins to stay put

By MARK SHANAHAN

The Bethel Solid Waste Committee voted 4-1 Wednesday against a proposal to move the town's recycling operation from its present Cross Street location to the proposed site of the town's new solid waste transfer station on Route 2.

Committee members Tom Wheeler, Dwight Merrill and Harry MacMunn joined Chairman Dick Hosterman in voting against the proposal. Arthur Gilbert, who also is a Bethel selectman, cast the lone vote in favor of the switch.

"Personally, I'd just rather see the recycling and the waste all in one place," said Gilbert, echoing the sentiments of Town Manager Madeleine Henley.

Merrill said the proposal "made sense," but it also might result in reduced participation in the recycling program.

"I can see why it's a good idea, but once you move it out of town, participation is going to go right down. The current location (behind the ambulance barn on Cross Street) is convenient," Merrill said.

Bethel, a member of the Norway-based Oxford County Regional Solid Waste Corp., collected 54 tons of recyclables between April and December last year.

Addressing the committee Wednesday, the town's planning assistant,

Stacy Benjamin, said the town would be reluctant to take any action that might jeopardize the future growth of its recycling operation.

"If we were to move (the recycling center) and the participation dropped off, we'd move it back," Benjamin said.

Bethel has been mandated by the Maine Department of Environmental Protection to cap its landfill by Dec. 31, and town officials plan to open a solid waste transfer station in July.

The proposed site for the transfer station is near the landfill on Route 2. A public hearing to discuss the proposed site is scheduled March 2.

Also Wednesday, the Solid Waste Committee met with Brian Rogers, owner of the B.A.R. Co. of Oxford.

Rogers proposes to provide the town with a remanufactured compacter at no charge if the town will send all its solid waste to B.A.R.'s transfer station in Oxford. Rogers said his company will also provide the town with a 42-yard container, capable of holding

REAL MANAGERS SHOVEL THAT SNOW, FLIP THAT BURGER

To the Editor:

In a recent editorial, you defined what you perceive to be the function of a manager and more specifically the town manager. You said "A competent manager doesn't shovel the driveways, design the electrical system and poke through the bank records of potential tenants. A manager manages. That is, he or she analyzes the task at hand and the resources available for getting the job done, then delegates and directs."

If this is the way you and others feel we should manage a public business like the town of Bethel, it begins to explain our high taxes. This is really wrongheaded and fuzzy thinking. Bethel should be considered a small business. We hire help, purchase material and provide a service. While the town does not operate for a profit, it should get its job done as economically as possible. I feel that we should look at successful businesses of similar size to the town's payroll and see how people in the real world manage their business.

Three that come to mind are Brooks Bros., Inc., Western Maine Supply and the I.G.A. While each has a manager, you'll frequently find the manager doing work, possibly even shoveling the walk, helping at the counter or doing similar chores. Why is it O.K. for these managers to do this? Does it make them less competent?

Another good example of a "hands-on" management style is the McDonald's we're all familiar with. Next time you stop for a "Big Mac," watch the manager. Chances are he or she will be lending a hand in a busy area. He or she is also a doer and working for a very successful and profitable company.

Why can't the manager of a town with 12 employees be expected to do some of the more mundane chores, instead of looking for someone to delegate them to? Delegating work that a manager could do, can eventually result in adding more people to the payroll, resulting in higher costs and higher taxes.

Maybe the Japanese aren't 100 percent wrong when they criticize our managers. Surely, a manager of a 1,500 person plant should be expected to sit back, analyze and delegate as you suggest, but a manager of a small business should be expected to be "hands-on" if that business is to be successful.

FORESTS NEED HARVESTING

To the Editor:

The political pushing and shoving accompanying the Wild River timber sales tends to obscure some fundamentals.

1.) The 1986 Forest Plan reaffirmed that this forest be dedicated to multiple use and that timber harvesting is a key component of that principle. I was a Planning Task Force member.

2.) Much of the White Mountain National Forest's present condition, therefore appeal, exists, not in spite of logging, but because of it.

3.) Cutting on the Evans Notch District serves as a needed adjunct to harvesting on private land. It does not, in the long run compete with it.

4.) Clear-cutting is an essential silvicultural tool, and it appears that it is being used well on this National Forest District. I conducted a regeneration study on clear cut areas for the Evans Notch District last summer. The harvest areas seemed well planned and executed. They were small patch cuts that fit the terrain well. All were successfully regenerated, most with shade intolerant hardwoods.

5.) Local mills depend not only on wood harvested from the forest, but on the particular species these clear cuts are designed to regenerate, especially the birches.

Intelligent harvesting plays an essential role in forest management. The people and the integrity of the communities in this area need the diverse benefits that harvesting on this forest brings as much as the forest itself does.

WHY THE HOSTILITY?

To the Editor:

I believe very heartily in the right of every man to express his opinion, as Mr. Robert Blake did in his letter to the editor last week. Although I am not writing to address the issue of Gamm II, I would like to suggest that Mr. Blake take the time to sit down with my father or other committee members and discuss the topic.

We all realize that there are pros and cons to every side of every subject. Although even positive ideas about Gamm II may not change Mr. Blake's opinion, it would hopefully serve to make him less hostile toward the individuals involved. Mr. Blake needs to realize that everyone's main objective is to do something positive for our community. Of course we will not all agree on every project! However, we should be able to voice our opinions and help in our own way without being personally attacked.

This brings me to my original reason for writing this letter. I take issue with Mr. Blake's comment regarding my father, Ron Kendall. Obviously, Mr. Blake knows my father not at all! If he did, he would know that my father has a very positive opinion regarding competition, I know, because it is his willingness to include anyone and everyone in his good fortune that has always impressed me most about my father.

I remember specifically the opening of another insurance agency in town when I was a child. My personal reaction was "Oh No!" My father, however, stated very strongly his belief that competition should always be welcomed, as it encourages us to be the best that we can be. He taught me, as I am teaching my children, that there will always be stronger, smarter, and more virtuous people than ourselves, but if we strive to be our best we will always get our fair share of whatever we desire.

As the business is passed on to my husband, my brother, my sister-in-law, and me, we vow to continue to operate with this same philosophy. So if anyone out there would care to open an Insurance Agency, and this includes the Town of Bethel—WELCOME!

EXCELLENT AIDS ASSEMBLY

To the Editor:

On Monday, Feb. 3, my wife and I had the opportunity to attend an assembly at the Telstar Middle School. The purpose of the assembly was to educate the students about HIV and AIDS.

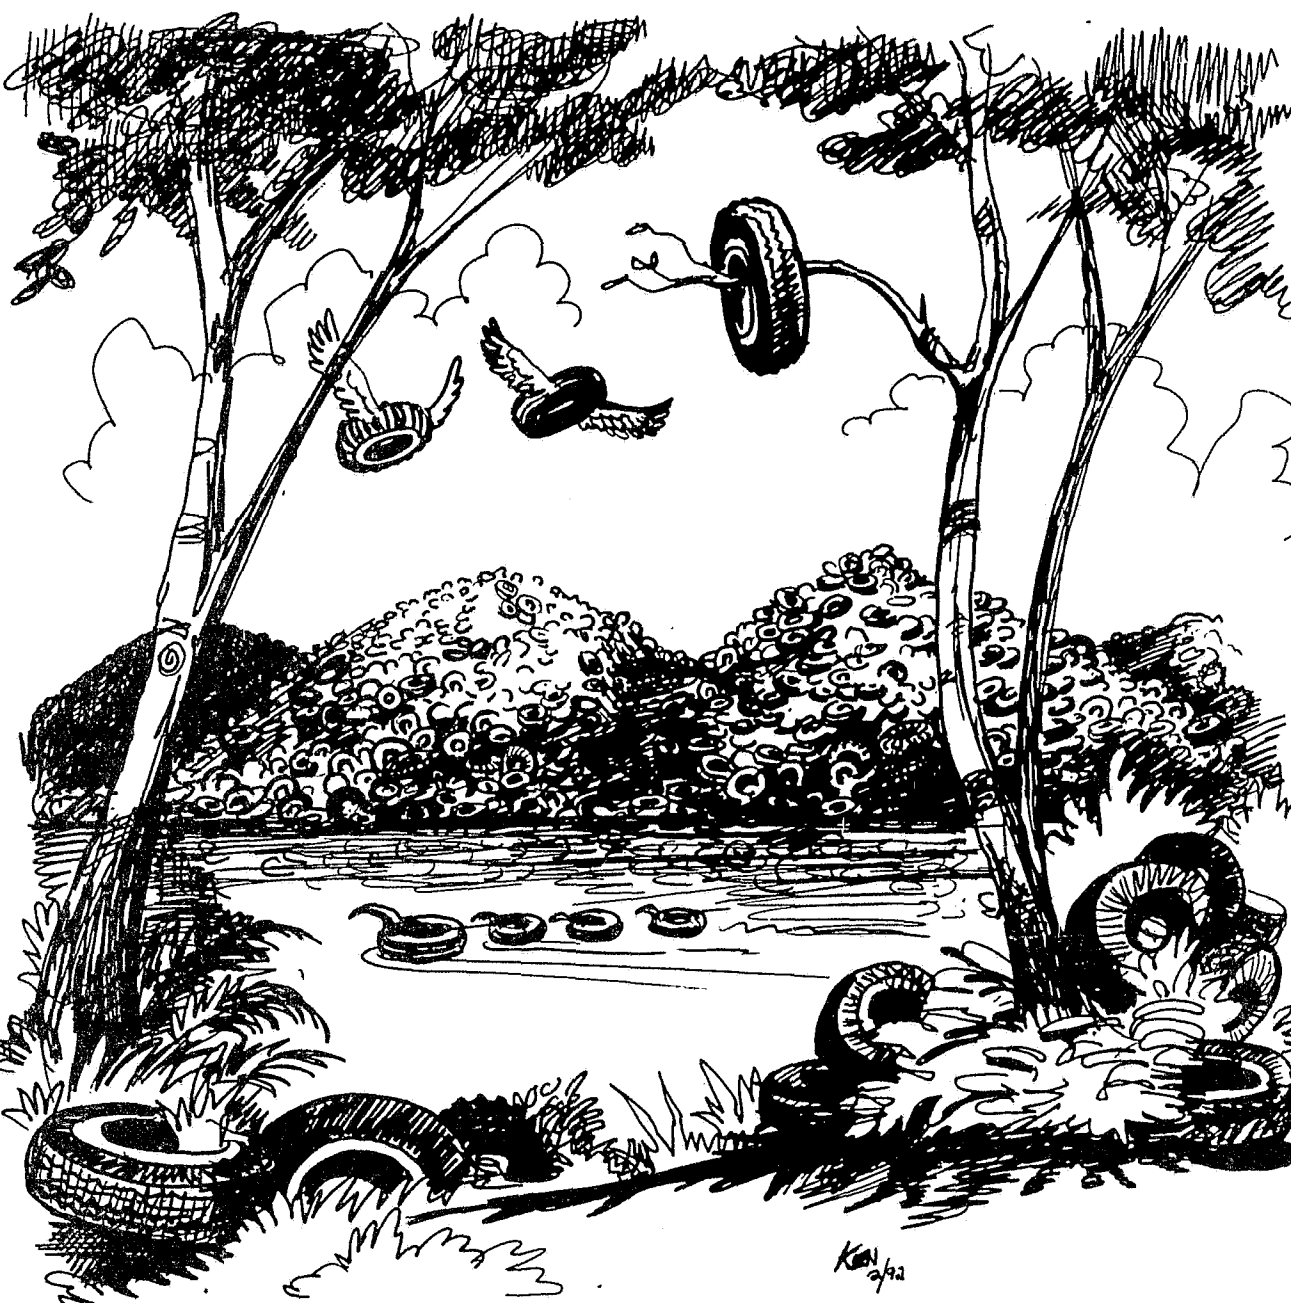

Professionally, I understand the need to educate young people about AIDS, but as the parent of a sixth-grader at the school, I was a bit concerned about how the subject would be handled. My concern was quickly eased as the facilitators from the Boise Cascade Medical Department and the guest speakers shared their information. I was impressed with the manner in which the speakers shared their own life stories concerning HIV/AIDS and how they shared the cautions that all people need to take in dealing with the problem. I was equally impressed with the sixth-, seventh-, and eighth-grade students. I couldn't believe how incredibly well behaved and mature they were. Their questions were quite thoughtful and their respect for each other and their guest speakers was wonderful.

AIDS concerns me. I went into the assembly unsure of how I felt about the subject, but I came out sure that education was a vital key to managing this dreaded disease. I would like to thank Mr. Bell and SAD #44, the guest speakers, the Boise Cascade facilitators and all of the Middle School students for making time spent at the assembly a rewarding one.

I pray that other parents will make AIDS awareness a goal for themselves and their children, and that our young people will take the message seriously and abstain from IV drug use, sex and other transmitters of this deadly disease.

WHAT TIRE PROBLEM? A DEP official last week assured Greenwood selectman Marie Bartlett that there was no used-tire problem in her town. (Art by Ken Irons)

Gordons' site will get utility lines

By MARK SHANAHAN

More than one year after requesting that power and telephone lines be run to their residence on the Rabbit Road, Peter and Susan Gordon, owners of a tire storage facility there, received word last week from Central Maine Power that power poles will be installed shortly.

The delay in meeting the Gordons' initial 1990 request was the result of a debate between the town of Greenwood and the P.H. Chadbourne and Co. lumber mill about the status of the Rabbit Road.

Greenwood town officials, citing a 1954 Town Meeting vote which officially discontinued the road "subject to right of way," contended that the town retained a public easement to grant utilities at the time the road was discontinued.

Accordingly, in October 1991 the selectmen authorized both CMP and GTE to run lines along the one-half-mile stretch of the Rabbit Road from Route 35 to the Gordons' property.

Peter and Susan Gordon and their four small children have been living in a mobile home on the 37-acre property since November 1990. The couple have been collecting tires at the site, which was officially licensed as a tire storage facility by the Maine Department of Environmental Protection in August 1991, since December 1989.

However, following the town's decision to sign the permits, P.H. Chadbourne and Co., which owns the land over which the road passes, notified selectmen that its attorney had determined that "the town of Greenwood does not have the right to grant the Gordons an easement to install utilities" because "no easement for utilities exists."

While not disputing that the town retained an easement, Chadbourne's attorney Bruce Leddy, in a letter to selectmen, wrote that the "reservation language is ambiguous as to the purpose of the easement reserved."

"Since the town of Greenwood probably did not reserve the right to install utilities it does not have the right to grant the right to install utilities to the Gordons," Leddy concluded.

Having referred the matter to its attorney, Geoffrey Hole, shortly after receiving Chadbourne's letter, the selectmen instructed the Gordons to "sit tight" and wait for a response.

Finally, on Wednesday, 18 months after their initial request, the Gordons were informed that the two attorneys had reached "an agreement" and that plans to install the poles were moving forward.

"We have one truck and 18 men," Touchette said, "and response is important. You should be at the pond ahead of us. Minutes count." The Roxbury selectmen said there were between 100 and 150 year-round residents now living at the pond, and they are concerned about fire protection.

Hodgkins praised the efforts of Fire Chief Touchette in obtaining 18 men for the town's fire department, of which she said she is "very proud."

The Roxbury Town Meeting is March 5, Hodgkins said, and the Andover selectmen's decision was needed as soon as possible. The Andover selectmen said they would make a decision at their next meeting after talking to Fire Chief Ken Dixon.

The selectmen voted to mail out 250 town reports at a cost of $39.90, and said they did not know why mailing the reports had been discontinued by past boards.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The February monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society was held on Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House.

The traditional film festival was enjoyed. Shown during the evening were two films produced by Northeast Historic Film, the first dealing with ice harvesting operations in New England during the early years of the 20th century, the second focusing on the origins of Maine from Norumbega (a mythical city on the Penobscot filled with riches, which attracted early explorers) to the present boundaries established by the Webster-Ashburton treaty of 1842. Society Director Stanley R. Howe provided introductions and commentary on the films and members of the audience provided insights as well.

During the business portion of the meeting, Society president Jane W. Hosterman announced that the next meeting would be held on March 5 and focus on the history of skiing in the Bethel area. A video on skiing history will also be shown. She also announced that the 18th annual Heritage Day would be held on Saturday, Feb. 22 and include a variety of old-time craft demonstrations and exhibits, a local history book fair, a local art show, historical videos, and special tours of the Dr. Moses Mason House with warm Indian pudding served from the fireplace of the winter kitchen. The "Artifact of the Month" was announced by Curator of Collections Randall Bennett as a glass encased kerosene lamp designed to be hung or carried. This was the gift of Archie and Sig Post. Mr. Bennett also provided members with a list of the range of recent gifts to the Society. A photo of a "What's It?" was circulated to see if anyone could identify an item from the past.

President Hosterman called attention to the quilt hanging in the back of the room and announced that it would be raffled on Aug. 22 at the annual Middle Intervale Meeting House Quilt Show. Anyone wishing tickets was instructed to see Geraldine Howe.

LOOKING BACK

10 years ago:

The ell and barn of the Valentine property on Mechanic Street were destroyed by fire; the main house sustained heavy smoke and water damage. Gould Academy moved to the Western Maine Class D basketball tournament final with a 58-51 win over Oak Grove-Coburn. The Telstar Regional High School ski team became the 1982 Southern Maine Class A Regional champions in Alpine skiing; Andy Chase took first place in cross-country. Postmaster Arthur Gilbert retired from the West Bethel post office.

Marriages: Carol Starr and Charles Nielson; Stella Davis and Kevin Howe. Deaths: Philip Fortin, Durwood Lang.

20 years ago:

Reynold Jordan was promoted to assistant controller at Ekco Wood Products Company (now Gilbert Manufacturing) in Locke Mills. The Telstar Regional High School ski team won the Western Maine Class B championship. Emerson and Adeline Clough were given a surprise party in honor of their 25th anniversary. Captain John G. Howe completed his tour of duty in Vietnam. Andre Bernier was stationed in the Azores. E. Louise Lincoln announced she would seek a 7th term in the Maine House of Representatives.

Recall and salary

Sometimes solving a difficult problem requires taking an unpopular position. As an elected official, I am aware that not all my vote choices will be cheered by every constituent. But I also realize that it comes time for re-election, my constituents will look at my record and the two-year term.

There is no job security when a legislator and that is as it should be. But having to endure an election more frequently than every other is extreme, unnecessary and poor lawmaking.

The Legislature has given its approval to a bill carried over from session that would allow for recall of public officials. Unlike impeachment which is already allowed under Maine Constitution, no wrong necessary to get the wheels of government rolling.

At issue here is nothing less than pure politics. It would provide for unsuccessful candidates a life unpleasant for their victors. Politics is a hard game and at some point we need to say, "the game is over, to work." Otherwise, elected officials will shy away from going out and making the truly courageous decisions of which we are in need.

In this bill, the deck is stacked in favor of the majority party. The mission on Recall, which the bill creates and charge with drafting constitutional amendment for a referendum, would be composed of two chosen by the Governor and remainder chosen by the Senate and Speaker of the House. Those 10, only two are required members of the minority party.

Democratic caucus set for Sunday, Feb. 23

Democratic caucuses will be held on Sunday, Feb. 23, throughout with several local towns holding individual caucuses at 2 p.m. Telstar Regional High School towns of Bethel, Newry and wood have already decided to participate in the joint caucus.

This arrangement allows caucuses to address the entire group of voters holding of individual town caucuses. Other neighboring towns welcome to use the Telstar facility. Contact Paul at 824-2365.

Anyone who is a registered Democrat, or who wishes to participate in the selection of a presidential candidate. Those uncertain of the time or place of town caucus, or who are interested in organizing a caucus, may contact Richardson, Oxford Democratic Secretary at 924-2365.

ANDOVER DEMOCRATS

Jane Rich, chair of the Democratic Town Committee, announces that the Democratic caucus will be held on Sunday, Feb. 23, at the First Congregational Church Christian Education Center. Rich said that interested persons who are not registered to vote may register at Andover Town on Caucus Day at the caucus.

At the caucus delegates to the Democratic Convention will be elected along with county members, election clerks and committee officers. If you have any questions call Jane Rich at 392-3761 or 743-6211 days.

BETHEL REPUBLICANS

Richard Whitney, Chair of the Republican Committee, calls to local Republicans to meet at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 14, at the Telstar Middle School. The main purpose of the caucus is to allow registered voters to elect delegates to the party to elect delegates to the Republican State Convention which will be held this August Civic Center on Main Street.

Other business of the caucus include the organization of a committee and the nomination of members to the County Committee. All local Republicans are invited to attend the caucus.

There will be a Notary Public register anyone interested in a member of the Republican Party. A copy of the proposed Platform can be seen on the board at the Bethel Town Office. Please call 824-2522 for information.

The Walter Powers estate, occupied by Mervin Powers and family, burned to the ground; only a few household furnishings were saved. William Howe was stationed at Fort Francis E. Warren in Wyoming. The new Gould Academy ski development at Swan's Pond was claimed to be the best of its kind in the East. Thirteen soldiers were camped at the Grand Trunk Station in Gilead for the purpose of guarding the Wild River railway bridge from possible sabotage.

Marriages: Philip Wright and Sarah.

Deaths: Mabel Eastman, Nora.

Rep. Al Barth Recall and salary cuts

Sometimes solving a difficult problem requires taking an unpopular action. As an elected official, I am well aware that not all my vote choices will be cheered by every constituent in my district, but I also realize that when it comes time for re-election, my constituents will look at my record in balance over the two-year term.

There is no job security when you're a legislator and that is as it should be. But having to endure an election any more frequently than every other year is extreme, unnecessary and invites poor lawmaking.

The Legislature has given initial approval to a bill carried over from last session that would allow for recall of public officials. Unlike impeachment, which is already allowed under the Maine Constitution, no wrong-doing is necessary to get the wheels of harassment rolling.

At issue here is nothing less than pure politics. It would provide a tool for unsuccessful candidates to make life unpleasant for their victorious opponents. Politics is a hard-fought game and at some point we need to be able to say, "the game is over, let's get to work." Otherwise, elected officials will shy away from going out on a limb and making the truly courageous decisions of which we are in such dire need.

In this bill, the deck is stacked in favor of the majority party. The Commission on Recall, which the bill would create and charge with drafting a constitutional amendment for referendum, would be composed of 12 people, two chosen by the Governor and the remainder chosen by the Senate President and Speaker of the House. Of those 10, only two are required to be members of the minority party.

about 10 tons of garbage, at no cost. Although Rogers' $62 tipping fee is competitive, Benjamin said the proposal includes some "hidden costs."

She pointed to the costs running power to the compactor, building a shed to protect the compactor from the elements and pouring the cement pad upon which a compactor must sit. Also, the town would be responsible for repairing the compactor if it malfunctioned.

The committee agreed to take up the matter at its next meeting, March 3.

Democratic caucuses set for Sunday, Feb 23

Democratic caucuses will be held on Sunday, Feb. 23, throughout Maine, with several local towns holding their individual caucuses at 2 p.m. at Telstar Regional High School. The towns of Bethel, Newry and Greenwood have already decided to participate in the joint caucus at Telstar. This arrangement allows candidates to address the entire group prior to the holding of individual town caucuses.

Other neighboring towns are welcome to use the Telstar location if they wish. Contact Paul McGuire, 824-2355.

Anyone who is a registered Democrat, or who wishes to register prior to the caucus, is welcome to participate in the selection of the presidential candidate. Those who are uncertain of the time or place of their town caucus, or who are willing to organize a caucus, may contact Warren Richardson, Oxford County Democratic Secretary at 925-1512.

ANDOVER DEMOCRATS

Jane Rich, chair of the Andover Democratic Town Committee, announces that the Democratic Caucus will be held on Sunday, Feb. 23, at 1 p.m. at the First Congregationalist Church Christian Education Building.

Rich said that interested Democrats and persons who are not currently registered to vote may do so by registering at Andover Town Office or on Caucus Day at the caucus.

At the caucus delegates to the State Democratic Convention are elected along with county committee members, election clerks, and town committee officers.

If you have any questions, please call Jane Rich at 392-3761 evenings, or 743-8211 days.

BETHEL REPUBLICANS

Richard Whitney, Chairman of the Republican Committee has issued a call to local Republicans to caucus at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 23, at the Bethel Town Office Meeting Room.

The main purpose of the biennial caucus is to allow registered voters who are enrolled in the Republican party to elect delegates and alternates to the Republican State Convention which will be held this year at the Augusta Civic Center on May 1 and 2.

Other business of the caucus will include the organization of the local committee and the nomination of members to the County Republican Committee.

All local Republicans are encouraged to attend the caucus.

There will be a Notary present to register anyone interested in becoming a member of the Republican Party. A copy of the proposed Republican Platform can be seen on the bulletin board at the Bethel Town Office. Please call 824-2522 for more information.

The Legislature recently passed unanimously a bill that takes aim at the inflated salaries of many upper level state officials. Several newspapers recently published lists of state salaries in excess of $50,000 and many people, myself included, were shocked and disgusted at how much some of these people were paid. One member of the Governor's staff even earns more than the Governor himself!

LD 2172, which as an emergency bill took effect immediately, calls for each department and agency of the state to prepare a plan to reduce the costs of administrative personnel by at least 10 percent.

The agencies must identify the administrative positions and distinguish them from positions that actually provide a service to the public or clients of the state, as in the case of prison guards and mental health workers.

Each plan must be reported to the Appropriations and Financial Affairs Committee by Feb. 10.

The bill sailed through both the House and the Senate, although there are already rumblings that the 10 percent cuts would be taken from the clerical ranks. I somehow doubt that will happen. For one thing, it would probably take five stenographers to equal the salary of one over-stuffed bureaucrat. The work not done by the absence of those stenographers would be far more evident than that not done by the over-stuffed bureaucrat.

Secondly, it's politically stupid. We in the Legislature know the intent of the bill and if any department offers up its lower-tier workers as sacrificial lambs, they will face the wrath of the Legislature, which must approve of the cuts.

In all, I think it's a good bill. One of the highlights of this past legislative week was having the opportunity to bring Cheri Myers to Augusta for a day of observation and work as an honorary page in the House of Representatives.

Cheri, a sophomore at Telstar High School, is the daughter of Bill and Vicky Myers of Bethel. She not only learned the ins and outs of serving as a page, she was able to sit in on a work session of the Joint Standing Committee on Education. She attended the Republican caucus prior to the day's session and even visited briefly with Governor McKernan.

In all, it was a full day and one that I thoroughly enjoyed!

Graham will challenge Barth

Democrat Rockie Graham of Newry announced this week that she is a candidate for the District 49 seat in the Maine House of Representatives. The seat is currently held by Alvin Barth, R-Bethel.

"I think that we need a change," Graham said. "The state is going bankrupt and we need some good people up there who are willing to fight for the needs of the common people."

Graham said she hopes to draw support "from people fed up with cuts that impact on the local level, state workers and people who are concerned about cut-backs in the state education budget—parents, educators and students."

She added that in order to refinance the cuts already made by the state in revenue sharing and education, she would like to look at the state budget from the top down.

"One place to look is upper level state management," Graham said. "It just seems unfair that lower level state employees get cut and forced to take days off, when the upper management doesn't—and makes salaries that are just about unknown in the state of Maine."

Graham said she is also concerned about the lack of affordable health care, the environment, the threat of nuclear waste polluting Maine's water and air and the increase in domestic violence and other crimes of violence.

Graham has been chair of the Newry democratic town committee for the past four years. She was active in the formation of the Oxford County Regional Solid Waste Corporation and the Bethel Solid Waste Committee.

She is also a member of the advisory committee and a volunteer with the Safer Families Program, and sits on the Board of Directors of the Maine Nuclear Referendum Committee. Graham is also a former planning assistant for the town of Bethel and holds a master's degree in public policy and management. She is currently a grantwriting and political consultant.

District seat 49 encompasses the towns of Avon, Bethel, Byron, Gilead, Hanover, Lovell, Newry, Rangeley, Upton, Watford, Weld, the Plantations of Lincoln, Magalloway, Rangeley, Riley and Sandy River, the townships of Albany and Mason and unorganized territories.

AUGUSTA VISIT—State Rep. Alvin Barth briefs Telstar High School sophomore Cheri Myers of Bethel on the legislative system shortly before the House of Representatives went into session. While in Augusta, Cheri learned the ins and outs of serving as a page, sat in on a work session of the Joint Standing Committee on Education, attended the Republican caucus prior to the day's session and visited briefly with Gov. this year we'll at least hold the line on taxes."

Newry

In Newry, Selectman Steve Wight said the town's municipal budget is down by 8.6 percent, because the selectmen are not proposing funding for any special projects.

"Last year we funded a comprehensive road study, raised money for the school withdrawal attempt and bought the grange hall," Wight said. "This year, we're keeping all accounts to a bare bones minimum and we aren't planning to do any significant maintenance to any of our buildings."

"We have money in the Grange Hall acquisition account, which we hope to transfer into the equipment and maintenance account for some repair work at the hall, but that won't be new money."

"The only other place I suppose it would be possible to cut back is the $25,000 proposed for tarring roads. It would be possible to postpone that, but I'm not sure it makes sense to. I'm hoping people will see that the cuts we made will be sufficient."

Greenwood

Greenwood Selectman Marie Bartlett said her board is still preparing the budget, but she expects the final version to be about even with last year's.

"It looks pretty good," Bartlett said. "I don't think there's going to be an increase. We took a fine-tooth comb to each account. Our liability insurance went down $4,000—that was a big surprise. The operation of the G & W transfer station has gone down a few thousand dollars."

Greenwood employees, who agreed to a salary freeze last year, are doing so again this year. "The road crew, selectmen, fire department, planning board, the town clerk and deputy clerk have volunteered to keep the salary freeze going," Bartlett said.

"We are looking into putting money aside for legal fees that might be involved in dealing with the fire facility in the future," Bartlett said. "But we're not positive what we're going to do about it yet."

Gilead

Gilead selectmen have held a few preliminary budget meetings, according to Selectman Ken Cole. Town officials looked into saving money by purchasing a school bus instead of contracting with SAD #44 for transportation, but decided to keep their contract with the district for now.

"We determined it wouldn't be beneficial to us," Cole said. "It would cost us a few thousand more to own our own bus. If we can lock the district into a contract for a few years then we'll be all right. If their rate increases every year then we may have to look at it again."

Cole said selectmen are planning to keep the same ambulance service and hold the line on fire department expenses. Last year Gilead purchased a firetruck, updated the department's equipment and stopped paying Bethel an availability fee.

"We're only going to raise the money needed to pay on our (firetruck purchase) note," Cole said, "and a little over $2,000 for special training and incidental gear."

Upton

Upton's budget will probably go up about $2,500, roughly four percent, Selectman Richard LeComte said, because the town has more children to educate.

"We had a substantial increase in the school budget," LeComte said. "We started the year with no children and now have five. All the rest of the accounts are basically the same. We're taking more money this year for the landfill account. If we have to start trucking trash out of here, the landfill budget will go far by the school budget."

LeComte said the town is still negotiating with James River Paper Company to purchase the landfill site, which it now leases from the company. If the town is forced to close the landfill and truck trash out of town, then a special town meeting will probably be called to discuss the expense involved, he said.

Andover

Andover's proposed municipal budget is also up slightly, according to Selectman Fred Emerson.

"The proposed budget is up three or four percent," Emerson said. "The summer road budget went down and there's a slight decrease in winter road maintenance. Most of the accounts were kept at the status quo."

"In the past two or three years there's been no major increases. There's always been a tight budget in Andover and the people know that. You can't cut when you're already down to bare bones. The county tax came in lower than we expected, so now we're just waiting for the school assessment."

In Bethel, where the new fiscal year does not begin until July 1, Town Manager Madeleine Henley is just beginning the budget-building process.

The state's budget problems have also kept SAD #44 directors and administrators spinning their wheels.

This year the district's annual budget-building process has been postponed a month. School board workshops will be held in March instead of February and the annual budget hearing, usually held at the end of April, has been scheduled for May 30.

Only then will local selectmen finally be able to begin calculating what their taxpayers will have to come up with in taxes this year.

By MARTA CLEMENTS

There is so much going on this month! Because I want to get your attention, I am going to begin with my fifth-grade news! Our field trip to Boston has been approved provided we raise the money to pay for the trip.

Our parent volunteers donated some money from our fall fund raiser, and are now planning two more events to raise the rest of the money needed. On Saturday morning, Feb. 29, we will be having a bottle drive. We will be going house to house. If you think we might overlook you, please let one of us know, and we will be sure to check you out. Also, two of our parents are making a quilt, and will be accepting donations for a chance to win it. More details will be available next week. My class wishes to thank everyone ahead of time for any and all the help.

For class work this week, we have begun piloting a new, literature based, reading program. The unit I have chosen to start with is all about space. This will tie in well with our next science unit, Space! In writing, the children have the topic, Klondike Derby. It is that time of year again. The Friday before vacation is our annual derby. The focus correction areas for this writing assignment are, sequence, clarity and feeling. The children have to be able to explain what happens, explain clearly what goes on and express how they feel about this event. This is a complicated activity, and may be a difficult writing assignment. More on the derby next week.

Mr. Koch's sixth-graders are busy also. They are hosting a group of foreign exchange students for a day, and will share these students with the rest of us. Again, I will have to write more about this after the fact, but we are all looking forward to the visit.

In reading the class has finished their unit called Math Magicians. One of their stories was the Sorcerer's Apprentice, upon which Walt Disney made his movie. Reading, math and magic all played a part in this unit. Mr. K. is reading the always favorite, "The Hobbit," by Tolkien to the group. They have been tested over their Middle Ages work in social studies, and must have their projects in before vacation.

In math they are working on fractions, decimals and percent. One of the hands-on activities is a fraction, decimal and percentage game. They have had some interesting fun days also. Last Friday was tie day. All students, and their teacher, wore ties. There were some lusus and appropriate prizes were awarded. This Friday is supposed to be hat day. We will be seeing some strange hats!

The kindergarten classes have been working in their workbooks with the letter M. They have been practicing folding, cutting and making paper hearts, and in math they have been sorting with the candy, conversation hearts. They have also had a sort of hat day themselves. Parent volunteer, Mrs. Makley has been making fancy hats, which I think tied in with a story called Go Dog Go. They have been working with the Duso stories for self-esteem in social studies all week.

The first-graders have been working with Tangrams in math and figuring out those shapes and designs. They have been talking about how to write and have been doing some free writing. They have been decorating paper bags for their valentines. They are reciting the poem, When.

The second grade had exciting news this week. Last week's special student was Trey Shead. His dad, Trooper Shead, came to visit Trey's class. He talked about seat belt safety and distributed posters and hand-outs. The class enjoyed his visit. This week's helper of the week is Ryan Bebee. Ryan and his classmates had a very exciting science class this week. One day they remembered that they had not checked their worms for a period of three months. Before they looked in to the box, Mrs. Perham had them write about whether or not they thought the worms would still be alive. Lo and behold, the worms were alive and well, and had even produced three baby worms. The white sand had been thoroughly mixed with the dark sand by the worms. The class now has good rich soil, complete with worms and has planted marigold seeds in it. Neat! The class is also doing spelling, Cold Nose words, reading, math, etc.

Mr. Burke's third-graders are into the stock market. They are buying and selling classroom businesses (classroom jobs). They are issued stock certificates, can sell them, or buy others. A stock market board is posted to help keep track of transactions. In writing they are working on a personal narrative based on a problem from the theme of a book they are reading. They too are working in all areas of the curricula.

The fourth-graders are giving a sigh of relief now that their week of testing is over, and have enjoyed a pizza party to celebrate. Mr. Litchfield is reading a book about the underground railway, "By Secret Railway." They are working with attribute blocks in math. They have received their Weather School material from Joe Cupo. They now have activity cards and a computer program which will add to their study of the weather.

As luck would have it Valentine's Day and Klondike Derby fall on the same day this year. We will work in our valentine exchanging, but will save our refreshments of cookies,

DOUBLE CELEBRATION—Telstar Middle School staff recently celebrated middle school principal Bruce Bell's birthday and fifth anniversary at the school. Middle school counselor Sally Hannon presented Bell with a jar of comments from the middle school staff about his five year's as principal.

cocoa and punch for after the Klondike. The following week is February vacation. We hope to see colds, sore throats and flu disappear during that time!

Everyone's invited to Telstar drama contest

The SAD #44 public is invited to attend the Telstar High School second annual drama contest on Thursday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Helen Berry Auditorium.

The plays are entirely prepared under student direction from script selection, through rehearsals, to public presentation.

This year the contest plays include: "Barefoot in the Park" (Act II); "Riders to the Sea"; and "Into the Woods".

A brief awards ceremony will follow the performances.

Adult Ed will be closed school vacation week

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will not hold classes during the week of Feb. 17, and the office will be closed. The University of Maine ITV classes will also observe the vacation.

Director of Adult and Community Education Cathy Newell is currently scheduling courses for spring term which will begin in March. Suggestions are always welcome by calling the office at 824-2780, or calling Newell at home, 824-2089, during the vacation week.

Anyone interested in information about financial aid for college courses or in obtaining assistance in completing the FAF form required of applicants for financial aid, may schedule appointments at Telstar on Friday, Feb. 28, with Sharon Gaudin of the University of Maine's Rumford-Mexico Center between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.. Jennifer Turner, peer advisor for the Telstar ITV site, works at the Telstar site on Fridays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. to assist students with study skills, some tutoring, and assistance with library access. John Byron, math and computer tutor, will come to Telstar upon request in addition to his hours at the Rumford/Mexico center.

Ann Holt to serve on accreditation committee

SAD #44 Special Services Director Ann Holt has been selected to participate on the committee to revise the standards of accreditation for the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Holt has served on numerous visiting committees throughout the State of Maine, including Morse High School, Wiscasset High School, Mt. Ararat High School, and, most recently, Williams Junior High School in Oakland.

The revision committee has already met twice at the commission's headquarters in Milford, Mass. One of the many issues facing the committee as a whole is the development of quality indicators to address middle school accreditation.

Holt specifically deals with the revision of the community support and involvement standard. The task of her subcommittee is not only to revise the standard itself but to identify quality indicators to address current issues. Holt states that it is very exciting to participate in this process as the only member from Maine on her subcommittee. At the urging of her subcommittee the commission will be reviewing the responsibility of accreditation in terms of the fiscal constraints that communities are currently facing.

Holt said that it is a privilege to be part of the standards of accreditation process. Her experience in working with the New England Association of Schools and Colleges is invaluable to her own experience in SAD #44.

Angela Applin named to Dean's List

Angela Applin, daughter of John and Pauline Applin of West Bethel, has been named to the Dean's List for the 1991 fall semester at the University of New England.

HOW TO GET A BANK LOAN

This article is brought to you by Jane D. Gray, CPA

Today's more restrictive lending practices mean that business owners have to make better loan presentations than in the past to get the bank loans they need.

To increase your chances of getting the bank loan you're requesting, put together a professional loan package. A loan package should give the lender all the information he or she will need to approve your loan. If your loan request is properly prepared, it will stand out from the competition and testify to your financial and business competence.

First, include a written explanation of your business, its product line, major competition, market niche, key personnel and any other pertinent facts that will help your banker get to know your company. Your banker will be looking for evidence that you can manage your business well and plan for its future.

Next, clearly state your loan request. Include the loan amount, the collateral, repayment terms, and the interest rate.

Then justify your need for the loan. Show the bank how you plan to use the loan proceeds, how the loan will be repaid, and why making the loan is a good investment for the bank. Include current and prior years' financial statements and cash flow projections for at least the next two years. These documents should be prepared with the assistance of your accountant.

Presentation graphics can help your loan request stand out from the competition and highlight key areas for the banker. The package should be typed and bound, and extra copies should be included for the various bank personnel who will be involved in reviewing your request.

A professional package won't get a bad loan approved, but it can go a long way toward convincing your banker to approve a solid loan proposal.

Gould welcomes visitors

Students and their parents in- terested in learning more about in- dependents school education are in- vited to visit Gould Academy dur- ing public school vacation Feb. 15-22. Campus visitors may make appointments for a tour or attend an information session on Wednesday, Feb. 19 at 4:30 p.m. in the admis- sions office. The information session will cover financial aid, college prepara- tion, curriculum, art and musical options. Students interested in visiting classes, touring the camp- us, or meeting with the admissions office staff may call the school for an appointment.

Children's folk singer and songwriter Rick Charette will per- form a concert in Bingham Auditorium on Tuesday, Feb. 18, at 7 p.m. Charette is well known throughout the state for his original children's songs, and his concerts are enjoyed as much by parents as children. The event is sponsored by the Mahoosuc Arts Council, which is located at Gould Academy.

Gould has asked that anyone in- terested in visiting the school or seeking further information to call the admissions office at 207-824-2196.

Media deceptions focus of Gould talk

Dartmouth College Professor of Ethics Deni Elliot will give a lecture entitled "Deception in News Gather- ing," in Gehring Hall at Gould Academy at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 13. Professor Elliot's talk is part of the Gould Academy "In the News" series, and is open to the public at no charge.

Professor Elliot is the director of the Institute for the Study of Applied and Professional Ethics at Dartmouth, and teaches for the departments of philosophy and education there.

"The Clarence Thomas hearings again showed the role the media plays in shaping societal perceptions," says Dr. Harry Dresser, Gould associate headmaster and in the News organizer. "Dr. Elliot's talk will help us see another piece of this complex puzzle." Her work in the field is current—Elliot writes a monthly analysis column for "FineLine: The Journalism Ethics Newsletter," and edits the book review section of the "Journal of Mass Media Ethics."

After receiving a doctoral degree from Harvard, Elliot completed terms as an ethics consultant and reporter for the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Louisville Courier-Journal and WCHS-TV in Portland.

She is currently working on "Sources and Sorcery," her second book on journalism ethics, and is also producing her second documentary film on media coverage of medical issues.

Sunday River skier with heart defect dies on slope

A 15-year-old Massachusetts skier with a congenital heart defect collaps- ed and died on a slope at Sunday River Ski Resort Sunday, according to state police.

Matthew Adler of Andover, Mass., was skiing the Right Stuff Trail about 1:30 p.m. when he collapsed, Trooper Donald Shead said Monday. The teen- ager was under medical treatment for a heart condition he was born with, the trooper said.

Members of the ski patrol attempt- ed to resuscitate the victim, who was rushed to Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway by PACE Ambulance, Shead said. An autopsy performed at the hospital Sunday by Maine Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Henry Ryan revealed the death was from natural causes due to a congenital heart defect, Shead said.

According to police, the boy was at the resort with his parents Mr. and Mrs. David Adler, and his 13-year-old sister.

The trooper said the investigation of the unattended death continues while he awaits all reports surrounding the incident.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Tax Information for Persons with Disabilities

These are typical of questions asked by taxpayers and are pre- sented as a public service of this publication and the IRS.

Q. I know there are certain credits for members of various disadvan- taged groups in society; is there a credit for elderly or disabled in- dividuals?

A. Yes, it is called the tax credit for the elderly or the disabled. You may be eligible for this credit if you are 65 or older or if you retired on disability and you were perma- nently or totally disabled.

Q. How would I claim and figure the credit?

A. You would claim the credit when filing Form 1040 or 1040A, and you would figure the credit by filling out Schedule R (Form 1040) or Schedule 3 (Form 1040A).

Q. If I am under age 65, what do I need to prove that I am disabled?

A. If you are under age 65, a doctor must certify that you are permanently and totally disabled. The statement must say that you cannot engage in any substantial gainful activity because of your physical or mental condition, and that your condition has lasted or can be expected to last continuous- ly for 12 months or more, or that the condition can be expected to result in death.

Q. What special deductions exist for handicapped or disabled in- dividuals?

A. Several special deductions exist for handicapped or disabled individuals who itemize their de- ductible medical expenses. They may include the costs of wheel- chairs, hearing aids, artificial limbs, guide dogs, specially- equipped telephones and televi- sions for the deaf, and payments to a special school or a special home for the disabled or to a person who provides care for a disabled person in your home. In some cases, cer- tain major building modifications such as installing wheelchair ramps, elevators, special doors and railings would qualify as medical expenses. Individuals can deduct medical expenses only to the ex- tent they exceed 7.5 percent of adjusted gross income.

Bancorp 2nd quarter earnings

Bethel Bancorp (NASDAQ:BTHL) has announced earnings for the second quarter ended Dec. 31, 1991 of $275,505, or $.48 per share. Earnings for the same period ended Dec. 31, 1990 were $270,645, or $.47 per share. Earnings for the six months ended Dec. 31, 1991 were $538,974, or $.91 per share, as compared to $527,338, or $.95 per share, for the six months ended Dec. 31, 1990. Total assets of the company were $150,585,341 at Dec. 31, 1991, as compared to $145,633,902 as of June 30, 1991.

Bethel Bancorp is the parent com- pany of Brunswick Federal Savings, F.A. and Bethel Savings Bank F.S.B. Bethel Savings serves Western Maine with offices in Bethel, Harrison and South Paris as well as private bank- ing offices in Rumford and Portland. Brunswick Federal serves the Bath/Brunswick area from its Maine Street location in downtown Brunswick.

Jim Delamater, president of Bethel, stated, "Management is pleased with the results of the second quarter and is optimistic about the future. Our sound financial condition and perfor- mance has allowed our subsidiary banks to continue to aggressively seek new client relationships while main- taining our commitment to personal- ized service."

Dividend

The Bancorp also announced that its board of directors has declared a quarterly cash dividend of $.08 per share for its fiscal second quarter. The dividend is payable on Feb. 19 to shareholders of record as of Feb. 5. The company has paid a regular divid- end to shareholders since it went public in August of 1987.

"They basically dismiss tourism as an economic activity—that's absurd," Lowe said, pointing out that tourism is the state's second largest industry in terms of dollars generated, and its largest employer.

The EIS also acknowledges there would be a "slight increase in noise levels," if the plan goes through, as well as some effect on wildlife especially raptors (hawks, eagles, owls).

The Western Maine Alliance has opposed the Guard's proposal, as has the state's congressional delegation in Washington and many local residents.

Opponents claim the plan—which calls for lowering the flight operations floor to 300 feet over much of western Maine—would not only harm the local tourist economy, but would also threaten the quality of life here.

A public hearing on the draft EIS has been scheduled for March 12, at 7:30 at the Mt. Valley Middle School in Mexico.

Copies of the draft EIS are available for review at the Bethel and Rumford libraries.

will attend.

In other business at Monday night's brief meeting, the board approved a three-year tuition agreement with Upton.

The board also approved Angela Ap- plin and Robin Conner as substitute teachers.

Greenwood director Debbie Poland was absent from the meeting.

CALVARY CONGREGATIONAL PRESENTS 'MAGICAL MOMENTS'

Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Dailey will pre- sent a program of magic entitled "Magical Moments" at Calvary Cong- regational Church on Feb. 15 and 16. On Feb. 15 for Youth Rally, grades three through teens from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Feb. 16 from 9:30 a.m. to noon followed by fellowship dinner. The public is cordially invited.

"Magical Moments" is a highly entertaining and informative program for the entire family and makes use of a large variety of magical effects and audience participation. On various oc- casions the program also includes pup- pets and clowns.

HEART ART—Telstar Middle School students Jessica Pike, left, and Jana Mason helped West Bethel Children's Center pupil Crystal Mills, along with the rest of her classmates, prepare Valentine's Day card holders last week. The mid- dle school girls are part of a guidance department self-group, which chose to do regular volunteer work at the children's center.

JUSTICE IS A CRIME

To the Editor:

We do not need to expand the war on drugs, but the war should be fought on other fronts as well. Fronts that are real, but kept from the public's view altogether.

We need to begin a fight against injustice in this state. A war that attacks corruption, and conspiracy at the highest level. A war on our own unjust court and criminal justice system. A war of change.

Changes need to be made immediately if we are ever to achieve true justice and equality, where little exists at present, with the exception for the fortunately wealthy.

Three basic changes must be put in place if our citizens are to be truly protected from abusive use of power. There is no room for secrecy and secret societies within a free democratic government. Apparently, we haven't got one yet!

The grand jury system is such a system. Any citizen can be wrongfully accused and indicted. The accused has no access or ability to present the truth. Other states allow fairness, why not in Maine? I wonder why? We need access!

The plea bargain system is illegal. It denies citizens their constitutional right to due process, and has been expanded to corruptly intimidate innocent citizens into accepting a conviction out of extreme fear. Nazi Germany ruled by these same rules. Why here in Maine?

The court-appointed, puppet of the state, attorney set-up, is exactly that. A set up with the citizen being the fall guy, to perpetuate an evil and ugly business, a highly profitable one for a select few whom happen to belong to the elitist, above the law club, the Bar Association of Maine.

Either the stacked deck approach to justice has to be changed and rewritten, or legal professionals should not have to belong to this club, to fairly and freely represent people. What exists now is plain and simple slavery to the state.

With just these three simple changes, much can be positively accomplished. Had they been in place only three years ago, our numbers here imprisoned would have been cut in half. For some unknown reason, certain powerful people do not want the system to become fair and unbiased, or to work. I wonder what their ulterior motive is, and who the real criminals really are? For to convict innocent men or deny others their basic American rights is to wrongfully convict and create a partial population within our prisons, of politically convicted prisoners. It is worse than jailing a citizen without any trial at all. Far worse, with much worse implications for our whole state, and even our country.

Let us begin the process of righting these wrongs of our past, and set the course of establishing real justice for all, not just a few. God Bless You All.

Building materials bank helps low-income families

The Building Materials Bank in Windham is seeking donations of building materials from contractors, businesses and individuals.

The bank is a program of the Cumberland County Affordable Housing Venture, and is designed to help low income homeowners in Androscoggin, Cumberland, Oxford and York counties rehabilitate their homes to meet safe, decent and sanitary standards.

The bank solicits donations of building materials from contractors, businesses and individuals. A small fee, approximately 25 percent of retail, is charged to low-income customers for materials.

Leftover materials in the past have traveled to town landfills, but now contractors and individuals who have used window, doors or lumber left over can donate it to the materials bank.

Retailers have also donated to the bank. Companies such as Georgia Pacific, Rufus Deering, Portland Glass, LA Valley Lumber, Hancock Lumber and Deering Lumber have donated slightly damaged materials that can not be sold.

In addition to assisting low-income homeowners, the bank provides materials to nonprofit organizations that are developing new affordable housing.

For more information on the program call 892-1069 Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

FARM BUREAU, SOIL DISTRICT SPONSOR LEGISLATIVE DINNER

The Oxford County Farm Bureau and Soil and Water Conservation District will hold their annual Legislative Dinner Feb. 21, at 6:30 at the Universalist Church on Main Street in Norway.

Upcoming bills of agricultural interest will be discussed in a round-table forum. Local legislators are scheduled to attend.

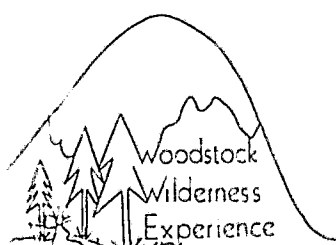

Since only 2 percent of Maine's budget goes to support natural resources and agriculture, which supply 52 percent of Maine's gross state product, these issues are important to everyone.

Tickets, at the door only, are $5 for a chicken pie supper. Anyone interested in agricultural policy is invited. Call 583-6748 for more information.

Some Considerations for those with back pain

Do you have pain or discomfort in your back when standing, sitting or even going down? If so, you will be happy to know there is an effective treatment that does not require painkilling drugs or surgery. The procedure is administered by a doctor of chiropractic.

In fact, the following scientific studies done by medical sources comparing chiropractic care against medical and physical therapy, non-invasive and the back and neck show that chiropractic procedure relieves acute and severe pain, both immediate and long term, in half the time of the medical physicians (who are not trained in chiropractic procedure). No wonder as many people with back pain choose to go to chiropractors as go to orthopedic surgeons.*

If you have been suffering without adequate relief, it might be wise to get a second opinion.

RESEARCH SUPPORTS THE FACTS

British Medical Research Council Study (1990) reported in the British Medical Journal for June, 1990.

Some 300,000 patients are referred to hospitals for back pain each year. "Of whom about 72,000 would be expected to have no contraindications to manipulation." If all these patients were referred for chiropractic instead of hospital treatment, the annual cost would be about $6,640,000. Our results suggest that there might be a reduction of some 290,000 days in sickness absence during two years, saving about $21,580,000 in output and $4,814,000 in social security payments. As it was not clear, however, that the improvement in those treated by chiropractic was related to the number of treatments, the cost of essential chiropractic treatment might be substantially less than $6,640,000. The possibility that patients treated in hospital would need more treatment during the second year than those treated by chiropractic (see above) also has to be borne in mind. There is, therefore, economic support for use of chiropractic in low back pain, though the obvious clinical improvement in pain and disability attributable to chiropractic treatment is in itself an adequate reason for considering the use of chiropractic.

CAN THEY TURN? Yup, they can turn. Glen Plake, left, the bad boy skier of Greg Stump films, visited Sunday River last week for some serious skiing with the Sunday River freestyle team, and lots of relaxed skiing with youngsters on the mountain. Skiing here with Plake is freestyle legend Scott Brooksbank, who now coaches at the Newry mountain.

Busy kids are happy kids

Sunday River Ski Resort offers programs to keep younger skiers active all day—and long into the night.

The resort offers a variety of skier development programs and both on- and off-snow activities. The programs have enjoyed growing popularity every season for more than a decade, and to meet the demand, the Children's Center was expanded for the current season.

Skiing programs are coordinated under the wing of the resort's Perfect Turn Skier Development Program. "We have a saying about kid's programs," said Sunday River Director of Skiing Bob Harkins. "It's 'Perfect turns start here.' When kids are given a comfortable, caring and fun way to learn the rudiments of the sport, they progress much faster later on." Harkins is a former U.S. Ski Team coach who spent many years working with developing racers.

"It's gotta be fun, and it has to relate to a kid's world," agreed Eric Schandelmeyer, who coordinates children's programs at the resort. "You can't push them. Our children's specialists understand that a ski area can be a pretty bewildering place to a child. The key is making it enjoyable, teaching responsible skiing, and taking the mystery out of it."

The resort offers children's programs for skiers from age three to age 18. The new Tiny Turns program, designed for three-year-olds, offers one hour of private instruction per day. "That's plenty for most kids that young," Schandelmeyer said.

Children from age four to six are placed in the resort's SKIwee program, a nationally recognized children's program sponsored by SKI Magazine. Children aged seven through 12 have a special program called Mogul Meisters, which employs SKIwee techniques and innovations created at Sunday River. Participants in both SKIwee and Mogul Meisters are carefully grouped according to age and ability. Both programs offer half-day and full-day options.

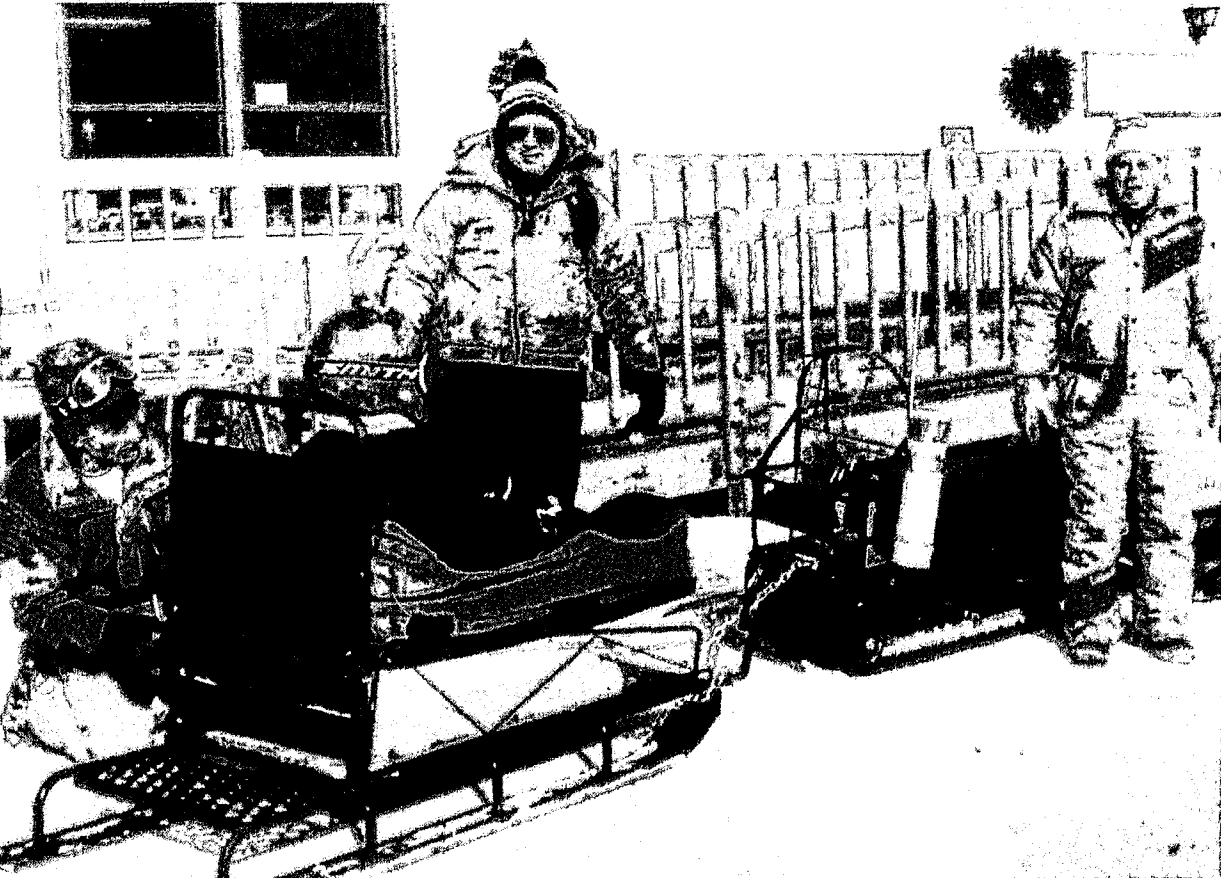

A variety of specialty programs is also available. Snowboard instruction, which has become very popular among younger skiers, is available; additionally, seasonal and daily coaching in freestyle mogul skiing is presented by national champion coaches. Coaching in race technique is also available on a seasonal basis.

For the very young, the resort offers state-licensed nursery (age six weeks to two years) and day care facilities (two to six years). Evening childcare is available through independent sitters.

Weekends and holidays, the resort offers evening programs for children. The Birthday Barn, for children aged six through 12, features games, dancing, and cake and ice cream. And for adolescents, Sunday River offers MVP's, a chem-free nightclub offering music, video games, and pizza. A disc jockey is frequently in attendance.

The Telstar boys did even better, capturing four out of the top eight spots. Fred Burke led the Rebel pack with a second-place finish. Tim Remington in fifth, Matt O'Meara in seventh and Tom Morton in eighth rounded out the scoring as the Rebels overwhelmed the competition. They beat second-place Jay High School, 22-56.

Telstar Coach Bob Remington said off-season strength conditioning gave his team the edge.

"I think our conditioning had a lot to do with how we performed," he said. "We also have experience and depth on these teams, and you just can't replace experience."

Earlier in the week, the Telstar skiers also competed in the MVC alpine championship. The girls' placed fourth out of six teams, and the boys' finished sixth out of seven teams.

Telstar's Robin Michaud put in an outstanding individual performance, placing first in both the giant slalom and slalom. Jen Percival earned second in the GS and fourth in the slalom. Pam Bennett placed seventh in the GS.

The boys took one top-ten spot in the GS and none in the slalom. Adam Taylor placed seventh in the GS and Amos Fox took eleventh in the slalom.

Alpine Coach Tom Remington said his boys had a tough time standing up on the icy slopes.

"The course was very icy," Remington said "but everybody had to ski it. The teams that were lucky enough to have everybody stand up did well. I'm hoping that maybe our team will all stand up at the state meet on Thursday."

The alpine Class A state championships will be held Feb. 13-15 at Sunday River Ski Resort. The state Class A nordic meet will also be held Feb. 13-15 at Telstar.

TELSTAR TEAMS WIN NORDIC MVC TITLE—Amy Hannon strides towards her ninth place finish in the Mountain Valley Conference championship nordic ski meet last week at Carrabassett Valley. Legends of Freestyle coaching at Sunday River

Tomorrow, Feb. 13, mogul skiers will be competing in France for the sport's first Olympic medals, but mogul and freestyle skiing are already well established at Sunday River Ski Resort.

This season, in fact, legendary freestyle skiers Wayne Wong and Scott Brooksbank are hosting a series of three Legends Ski Week Vacations at Sunday River.

The Legends Vacations offer advanced skiers a five-day all-inclusive package featuring daily coaching by Wong and Brooksbank, lodging, all meals and lift tickets. The vacations were offered in January and will be offered again March 30 through April 3.

"Legends Ski Weeks are an ultimate fantasy vacation," said Sunday River Communications Director Skip King. "It's a chance to ski with true skiing legends—and learn from them."

The Legends Ski Weeks were designed for skilled recreational skiers who wish to improve their free skiing and mogul technique. "Wayne and Scott amaze people when they ski," King said.

"Scott's 41, and Wayne's 42—and they both move through the bumps like guys half their age. And they're both great guys and great coaches. They show people that high-energy mogul skiing is a technique that nearly anyone can learn."

Reservations and information are available by calling Sunday River Reservations at 1-800-543-2SKI. The resort can also arrange discounted airline travel to the events.

Wong and Brooksbank were among the originators of freestyle skiing. Both have won numerous U.S. and International Championships and have been featured in ski movies. Both compete annually in Sunday River's Bust and Burn/Legends of Freestyle event, to be held this winter on April 4 and 5.

When I was reading a magazine this week, I noticed a beautiful picture and the headline read "See Why It's Called America the Beautiful." This brought to my mind our song "America the Beautiful" and how it came to be written and put to music.

It goes back to an afternoon on July 22, 1893, when the writer Katharine Lee Bates made the most famous excursion up Pikes Peak since Zebulon Pike's initial journey of discovery in 1807.

Her view from that Colorado mountain inspired this teacher to write the poem that was later set to music. Her name may not be well known, but the words to one of America's best-loved songs has grown better with the years. It was first printed in 1895.

In 1931 there were loud cries of protest when there was an active campaign. "America the Beautiful" was edged out by "The Star Spangled Banner" as the official National Anthem.

Many remarks were printed such as "America the Beautiful was much easier to sing and had a more pleasant melody."

"The problem is that the Star Spangled Banner is written in G major which means it has an F sharp, which few people can reach."

The controversy continues and the debate goes on.

Somewhat to me 'Amber waves of grain' and 'purple mountain majesty' sound more like the country I love than 'the rockets red glare' and 'bombs bursting in air.'

More than 100 composers asked permission to put their music to her words, but although she politely considered each, she refused every one. Then in 1926, the National Federation of Music Clubs sponsored a contest to find suitable music for the poem. There were 900 entries, but none pleased the judges or Katharine who finally chose Materna (Latin for "motherly") as suitable music for her poem. It was composed in 1882 by Samuel A. Ward and became our country's favorite during W.W.I.

The pleased poet heard her poem sung, when she attended the National Education Association meeting in 1928 where a chorus of girls from 20 nations sang it.

She made the remark that the song's popularity was "clearly due to the fact that Americans, at heart, idealists with fundamental faith in human brotherhood."

I think it rejoices in the gifts of our great country, for it honors the dead, pays homage to their past and is surely an American anthem.

Our Club met in West Paris at the home of Mrs. Melvin Pulsifer on Wednesday for the afternoon. We had a very pleasant time.

The roadmen have been busy with opening culverts and moving ice from the road and ditches here and other places this week.

Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12, 1809. Abraham Lincoln was assassinated April 14, 1865 by John Wilkes Booth, an actor and Southern Sympathizer, who 12 days later, was cornered in a barn in Virginia where he was shot to death by a Union soldier.

Have you ever wondered whatever happened to John Wilkes Booth's wife and daughter after the assassination? Well sometime after, two women came to Pascoag, R.I. (my home town) where I lived before I moved here in North Newry. They were Ozola Martha Mills and her daughter, Ogarita Rosalie, Booth's wife and daughter. Both had lived for sometime past in Bridgton a part of Pascoag (like North Newry is to Newry). After some amateur historians did some research, they found out that all had lived in parts of New England as they were show people and had performed numerous times in Providence, etc. They were no strangers to New England area. They were renowned theatrical performers. John Wilke's father, Junius Brutus (notice all the names are from plays) as well as sons, Edwin Thomas and John were well known in Providence. Copies of the "Elusive Booths of Burville" can be purchased at the R. & G. Value Outlet, 170 Main St., Pascoag, R.I. Other book by Izola entitled "This One Mad Act, the unknown story of John Wilkes and his family." Izola was buried in Canterbury, Conn.

The Newry Church Ladies Circle met at Freda Robertson's residence on Monday, Feb. 3, at 12:30 p.m. with five members present. President Sylvia Wright opened the meeting and Freda read the Devotions. It was voted to give a check of $5 toward the Horizon Unlimited drive for the Rumnford retarded. Other business was accomplished. The West Parish Congo Church Fellowship are inviting ladies of the surrounding churches to a luncheon on April 29 at 11:30 a.m. During the social hour, Freda read a very revealing article on "if you were born before 1940." Sylvia read some past records of the Circle of 1953. Next meeting will be at Olive Anderson's residence March 2 at 12:20 p.m. Meeting was adjourned.

Only three members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" ventured out in the cold last week to go bowling at Rumnford Lanes. Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark and Gil Seeley. Betsy was high on the singles beating Karlene by three, she was also high on the triples beating Karlene by one. Gil trailed far behind. Amen.

73 years ago. Recipes for these Czechoslovakian dishes were gathered and reviewed at the Unit's latest meeting on Feb. 6. Czechoslovakia is the country being studied this year in the American Legion Auxiliary's Foreign Relations Program, which is chaired at the department level by Jeri Greenwell of the Mundt-Allen Unit, Bethel.

Since its last published news the Locke Mills Unit has been busy on many projects and activities. They participated in the Pearl Harbor Day observances at the Locke Mills Union Church and at the honor roll where they placed a wreath and cast flowers into the water in memory of those lost at sea. They served dinner to the Bethel Senior Citizens on Dec. 12. Christmas gifts were purchased for seven veterans at Ledgeview Nursing Home and Leah Deegan distributed them on Dec. 22 at a special dinner attended by some Post members, Caroline Brooks of the Bethel Post, and those veteran patients able to do so.

The president and secretary, Kathleen McAllister and Olive Risko, respectively, attended the monthly County Council meetings at Norway in December and South Paris in January when the County Oratorical Contest was held. They also attended Mid-Winter Conference at Augusta on Jan. 18 and the Second District meeting at Mechanic Falls on Jan. 26. The District Oratorical Contest was held on that occasion. Jennifer Kimball of Oxford Hills High School, winner of the County contest, repeated and won at the District level.

At the Unit meeting on Jan. 2 members began planning for a leadership workshop to be held on April 18, conducted by Past Department President M. Jo Miete of Wiscasset. It was decided to invite interested members of all Oxford County units to attend. Included in the workshop will be a review of all American Legion Auxiliary programs, how to carry them out, duties of officers and committee chairmen, how to properly conduct a meeting and various ceremonies.

Business at the Feb. 6 meeting included planning a clean-up day at the hall on Feb. 13 at 1 p.m. Members are asked to come and bring whatever materials they prefer to use for cleaning. At this meeting it was voted to send a donation to the Chapel of Four Chaplains at Valley Forge; assist a member to purchase new eye glasses; contribute funds to another member family experiencing hardship; make a donation to the Locke Mills Union Church; and assist Lisa Cross of Bethel in raising funds for her expenses as an exchange student to France next school year.

NANNIE WRIGHT BROWN

Nannie Brown, Wm. Clough III engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Putnam Brown, Jr. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nannie Wright Brown, to William Plummer Clough, IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Clough, III of Bethel, Maine.

An Aug. 22 wedding is planned. The Episcopal service will be performed by the Reverend David Owen at Old St. Andrew's Church in Bloomfield, Connecticut, at 4:30 p.m.

Miss Brown is a graduate of St. Mark's School and Colby College, where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree in English. Until recently, she was the Commercial Leasing Manager for the Berkshire Eagle in Pittsfield, Massachusetts. Her father is a partner in the law firm Shipman & Goodwin in Hartford, Connecticut.

Her mother is a teacher and director of staff at the Valley Pre-School in Granby, Connecticut.

Miss Brown is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Brown of Kenilworth, Illinois, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Talbot of Middletown, Rhode Island.

Her fiancé graduated from Holderness School and Colby College, where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in History. He currently resides in Boulder, Colorado. His father is Headmaster of Gould Academy in Bethel. He is a grandson of Vasti Jarnefelt of Vebstrand, Sweden, the late Commander Olof Melin of Stockholm, Sweden, Louise B. Clough of New London, New Hampshire and the late Dr. William P. Clough, Jr.

Then, in the highest example of brotherhood and faith in their common God, they perished together as the ship sank beneath the waves off the shores of Greenland that cold morning of Feb. 3, 1943.

The next meeting of Oxford County Council is on Feb. 18 at the American Legion Post Home in Oxford.

Feb. 20 is the date for the annual oyster stew supper prepared by the Post. Each one attending is advised to bring a bowl and spoon.

March activities include catering the Woodstock Senior Citizen dinner at noon on March 5. The regular meeting of the Unit is that same evening. On March 17 the Oxford County Council will be hosted by Jackson-Silver Post and Unit for election of officers. March is the date for the birthday supper and Czechoslovakian program.

The Unit continues to sell refreshments at the weekly Friday evening Bingo parties and the Saturday night dances under the able leadership of Leah Deegan.

Mahoosuc Arts notes:

February is cabin fever month in Maine, and the Mahoosuc Arts Council has taken this opportunity to provide community members with a February family concert as well as the chance for a weekend away in Portland.

The winning ticket holder of the "Portland Pops Weekend" raffle will receive vouchers for two which include lodging at the Sonesta Hotel, dinner at Channel Crossing, and tickets to the Portland Symphony Concert (April 3 through 5). Tickets are on sale at Preb's Pharmacy at $1 per ticket, or they may be purchased from Mahoosuc Arts Committee members or by calling the Mahoosuc Office at 824-3575.

During Maine School vacation week—Tuesday, Feb. 18, singer and songwriter Rick Charette will be in Bethel to present a concert for families in the Bingham Auditorium at Gould Academy at 7 p.m. Discount tickets may be purchased in advance at Preb's Pharmacy in Bethel or by calling the Mahoosuc Arts Office at 824-3575. $5 for adults and $3 for students 18 years and younger. Tickets sold at the door the evening of the performance will cost $4 for students and $6 for adults.

Rick Charette has been capturing the hearts and spirits of young and old alike with his delightful and inspiring children's songs. His performances blend original contemporary pop music and lyrics with imaginative activities and that generates all kinds of audience participation.

Many of Charette's songs are humorous, others invite reflection. All of his songs draw from experiences that children can relate to or imagine. Rick recently was a keynote speaker at the National Association for the Education of Young Children Conference in Washington, D.C. and his music is used extensively in schools and classrooms by teachers around the nation.

During the week of Feb. 10 through 14, Rick will be working with students in the Andover, Woodstock and Crescent Park elementary schools.

Students will have the opportunity to learn the craft of songwriting and producing. One of the songs the Woodstock students wrote during an earlier workshop with Charette is included on one of his albums.

Rich Charette albums, cassettes, and T-shirts will be on sale following the concert on Feb. 18—including Rick's most recent release "Chickens on Vacation."

This concert and the school workshops are made possible through support from SAD #44, Gould Academy, and the Mahoosuc Arts Council with contributions from community members as well as Mahoosuc Arts Founding Sponsors: The Bethel Savings Bank, P.H. Chadbourne and Co., The family of Leslie B. Otten, Dick and Wendy Penley, and Season Underwriters: The Bethel Inn, Bonnema Potters and The Bethel Spa Motel and Shops.

In other Mahoosuc Arts news, oboe recitalist Humbert Lucarelli and guitarist Simon Synberg performed for the Crescent Park School third-grade children on Friday, Feb. 7. Mr. Lucarelli, who is acclaimed by the New York Times as the country's foremost oboist, shared the history and construction of his instrument with the students. The children were interested to examine and pass around the reeds which Mr. Lucarelli makes himself. Mr. Synberg explained that his ten-string guitar was made in England and is the only guitar of its kind in the world.

Lucarelli and Synberg were in Bethel to perform at Gould Academy Thursday evening. Their presentation for the third-grade students is again the result of the coordinated efforts of SAD #44, Gould Academy, and the Mahoosuc Arts Council.

Funding for these and all Mahoosuc Arts programs is made possible through individual contributions to the Arts Council as well as support from founding sponsors: The Bethel Savings Bank, P.H. Chadbourne and Co., the Family of Leslie B. Otten, Dick and Wendy Penley; and season underwriters: The Bethel Inn, Bonnema Potters, and the Spa Motel and Shops.

Chris Heard to perform

On Feb. 16 at 10 a.m. at the Bethel Alliance Church singer/guitarist Chris Heard will be ministering in music. Chris Heard has a refreshing style which offers a wide range of musical enjoyment for all ages. The Bethel Alliance Church is located next to Lowell's Saw Shop and across from Telstar High School parking lot.

TELSTAR GIRL SCOUTS
 The next meeting of the Telstar Service Unit will be Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 6:30 p.m. at the Mexico Congregational Church, (Green Church), Mexico.
 Troop trip training will be available for all adults who are planning trips with their troops and have not had this training. There will also be round table discussions for the different troop levels—problems, solutions, ideas, etc.
 Winter Fun Day will be held Feb. 17 at Black Mountain of Maine from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Reduced day and half-day ski passes plus rentals for alpine and cross-country skis will be made available to all registered Girl Scouts. Detailed information will be sent to all troops. Call Linda Zadakis at 364-7767 if you do not receive your notice.
 Just a reminder that the Kennebec Girl Scout Council Treasure Chest/Kaleidoscope '92 will be held on Saturday, Feb. 29 at the Gray/New Gloucester Middle School in Gray. All the information concerning this can be found in the January/February issue of "Ripples."

AFTER FIVE CLUB
 The Western Maine After 5 Club will be holding the February meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 18, at Goldstreet Restaurant at 6:30 p.m.

The "Potpourri of Crafts" evening will begin with a roast turkey dinner. Kathy Jo Farren of West Bethel will share "crafty ideas" for the long winter evenings. Joanna Prescott, a S.A.D. 17 student and member of "Up with People" will entertain with a "Sampler of Music." Connie Michaud will have "The Finishing Touches" as she shares how she dealt with a childhood secret.

The After 5 Club is open to any ladies interested in attending. The group consists of teens up to senior citizens. Reservations are needed and may be made by calling Judy at 539-8816, Ellen at 647-8138 or Kathy Jo at 836-2725. Please call by Feb. 17. Price is $7.50.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN UNITED
 The Christian Women United will hold their monthly meeting at Country Way Restaurant in South Paris on Tuesday, Feb. 18. The luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m.
 The speaker for the day will be Shirley Brace of Harrison, and she will also furnish the music.
 Those who have not been contacted but would like a reservation may call Leora Whitney 743-7221 or may call Pearl Anderson 743-5724 by Friday, Feb. 14.

Jackson-Silver Post #68
 Members of the Jackson-Silver Post gathered at the Legion Hall on the Gore Road in Locke Mills for their regular monthly meeting, Thursday, Feb. 5 at 7 p.m.

Time was taken out preceding the meeting to drape the Post Charter in honor of a recently departed comrade, Guy Smith, brother to our former service officer, Warren Smith, who passed away this past summer. Sincere sympathy is extended to friends and family of Guy Smith at this time.

We want to take this opportunity to remind all members and friends of the annual oyster stew supper to be held at the Legion Hall on Feb. 20 at 6:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to bring their own bowl. Something else will be offered to those who do not care for oyster stew. Friends and members of other Posts are invited to attend.

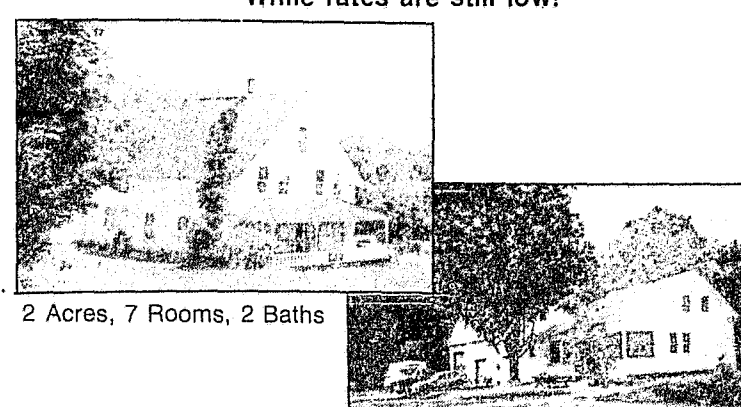

At the opening of the meeting arrangements were made with Mr. Cliff Larabee for public dances throughout the year each Saturday night. Watch for weekly announcements on Public Access T.V. Channel 4. Further arrangements were made with Mr. Larabee for the hosting of Project Graduation District #17 this coming June 13.

On Jan. 24, a Beano Night, a lifetime membership was given to comrade Daniel R. Davis for extra special services, such as a large amount of bulldozing, given to the Post in recent months. This was an effort to say "thank you" to our comrade. Plans were made during the meeting to have a Flag Disposal Day this coming May 30, the original Memorial Day.

 Also at the meeting the Post voted to purchase a video entitled "VietNam 101" which will be shown on local Public Access T.V. Channel 4.
 The Post are now using a new P.A. system at Beano games that they voted to purchase at the January meeting. It is a great improvement over the older model.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

Nicodemus was a man who was very religious. In fact, he was a teacher of the Jews and as such he was a religious leader. He came to speak to Jesus Christ one night and found out that the fact that he was religious was not enough to gain his entrance into the Kingdom of God.

The Lord Jesus said to Nicodemus: "Most assuredly, I say to you, unless one is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3). Nicodemus had to be born again, ... he had to become a new creature in Christ.

How is the process of being born again defined? First, we must realize that every person is born spiritually dead in trespasses and sins (Eph. 2:1). This is fundamental to understanding our need for the new birth. Unless we realize that the sin nature is inherent to every person as a result of the fall of the first man, Adam, we will not see our need to be born again.

The sin nature expresses itself in many various outward sins. These sins are merely symptoms of the disease or condition which lies in the heart of every man, woman and child, ... namely, the condition of sin. "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23). To simply try to stop the symptoms of specific sins is not enough. There is a need to be born again in our spirit. God promised that He would give us a new heart. How can you draw a cool, clean cup of water from a polluted well? The need is for a new well, supplied by a pure spring.

Jesus said: "If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink. He who believes in Me, as the Scripture has said, out of his heart will flow rivers of living water" (John 7:38). To be born again is to be born of the Spirit of God. It is to be transformed from an old creation into a new creation. It is to be quickened in your spirit, ... given this new life of God, ... a life which is both a gift of God and eternal. What a wonderful change happens to a person who is born again!

How can you experience this new birth? Realizing you are a sinner by nature and by choice is the first step. Jesus said He came for those who realized they were sinners, not for the self-righteous ones, who thinking they were whole, had no need for the Great Physician.

Provision for our forgiveness was made at the Cross, when the Lord Jesus, the Spotless Lamb of God, took our sins upon Himself, ... dying that we might live, if we believe in Him. Through Christ we are reconciled to a Holy God who created us. "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Romans 5:1).

At that moment we are born of the Spirit of God. We will never be the same again. We are changed, not by some outward adjustments to our life, but by the power of God who has worked His gracious salvation in our soul.

This is what a Christian is, ... one who is a new creation in Christ. Have you been born again? Without this new birth you can have no hope. With it you should never despair! Do you see your need? Flee the wrath to come, believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and you will be saved!

"Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. And all things are of God, who has reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ" (2 Corinthians 5:17).

Obituaries

LESTER E. RICHARDSON

Lester E. Richardson, 84, died Saturday, Feb. 8, 1992, at Norway Convalescent Center in Norway.

He was born at Greenwood, Aug. 15, 1907, the son of Charles and Ida Needham Richardson. He attended Norway schools and worked at the shipyards during World War II. He also worked in local shoe factories for many years. Mr. Richardson was a volunteer with the Norway Fire Department, was a member of the Odd Fellows, and was a golf enthusiast at Norway Country Club. He lived in the Norway-South Paris area for many years. He married the former Helen Judd, Nov. 11, 1927; she died in 1977.

He is survived by a daughter, Barbara Buchanan of Spring Hill, Fla., and North Norway; a sister, Helen Purrington of Norway; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Memorial services to be announced by the family in the spring. Interment at Norway Pine Grove Cemetery, South Paris, in the spring. Donations in Mr. Richardson's memory may be sent to Unitarian-Universalist Church, Norway, or American Cancer Society, P.O. Box 456, Brunswick, 04011. Arrangements by Raymond Funeral Home, Norway.

SHIRLEY W. ROSE

Shirley W. Rose, 72, of Lake Road, Canton, died Friday evening, Feb. 7, 1992, at Humana Hospital, Brandon, Fla., where she had been a patient since Monday.

She was born in Bethel, Nov. 5, 1919, the daughter of Hartson W. and Pearl Rogers Welch. She attended West Paris schools and graduated from West Paris High School in the class of 1938. She played trumpet in the high school orchestra and with the West Paris town band. She later played with Gogan's Dance Orchestra of Mexico. After her marriage to Thane M. Rose of Canton, Sept. 21, 1940, she graduated from Rumford Community Hospital School of Nursing and was a night supervisor at the hospital for several years. She later worked as an office nurse for Dr. Linwood Rowe of Rumford. She had been associated with her husband in the operation of Lindley's Drug Store of Canton and was an assistant pharmacist. She was a member and past worthy matron of Evergreen Chapter OES, Canton, and was a member of the Maine Nurses Association. Mr. and Mrs. Rose had been spending winters in Brandon, Fla. since 1982.

She is survived by her husband, Thane M. Rose of Canton; a sister, Mrs. Phyllis W. Young of West Paris; and a brother, Hartson W. Welch Jr. of Heeneey, Colo.

Funeral services will be in Maine in the spring, at a date, place and time to be announced. Arrangements by Hawthorne Funeral Home, 39 Weld St. Dixfield. If desired, donations in her memory may be made to Androscoggin Home Health Services, 201 Knox St., Rumford, 04276.

FRANK A. YORK

Frank A. York, 68, died Friday, Feb. 7, 1992, at Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston.

He was born at South Paris, Aug. 4, 1923, the son of Orlan and Ida Powers York. He was educated in Woodstock schools and worked at Stowell Silk Spool Company in Bryant Pond for many years. He retired in 1986. Mr. York was a member of the Jackson Silver Legion Post #68 in Locke Mills, was active in the Democratic party and Woodstock Civil Defense in the 1950s and 60s. He served in the U.S. Army during World War II. Mr. York lived in Bryant Pond all his life. He married Florence Buckman on April 18, 1946; she died in 1988.

Survivors include six sons, Clifford York of Bryant Pond, Donald York of Dixmont, Clayton York of Florida, Dwight York of Bryant Pond, Peter York of Bryant Pond and Kevin York of Bethel; one sister, Mrs. Elbridge (Florence) Buck of Milton Plantation; and eight grandchildren. He was predeceased by two brothers, Elmer and Robert York.

Graveside services will be conducted in the spring at a time and place to be announced. Donations may be made in his memory to Jackson Silver American Legion Post #68, Locke Mills, 04255. Arrangements by Andrews Funeral Home, South Woodstock.

Elliott and Williams perform at coffee house

Just Imagine Coffee House continues to provide good, wholesome entertainment on Saturday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. in the dining room of the West Parish Congregational Church.

This week's performers are Bob Elliott and Patricia Williams, who are well known to local audiences from their performances in the Ragtag People's Theatre and Oxford Hills Music and Performing Arts Association. In addition, they have each appeared solo and in various music ensembles throughout the Northeast. Bob currently sings with the 16-piece Express Big Band.

Saturday night they will offer a wide range of traditional and contemporary folk music. Early in the evening there will be songs for children of all ages with a lot of audience participation. So if you're a kid at heart or have children who want to enjoy some live entertainment in a smoke and chemical free environment, be there on Saturday evening! Homemade refreshments will be available at modest prices, with admission $2 for adults and $1 for seniors and children under 12.

OXFORD HILLS YMCA DAY

The Oxford Hills YMCA will hold a "YMCA Day" at Burger King in South Paris during the school break in February.

From 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 21, YMCA Board members will be greeting the hungry public who come to Burger King to support the Y while satisfying their appetite. Coupons and YMCA information will also be given away.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to all of the caring, generous people whom gave their support to our family after our recent fire. To the employees of the Bethel Inn & Country Club, Jackson Silver post, Woodstock Elementary, The Bryant Pond Baptist Church, Maryvonne Wheeler and Mr. & Mrs. Richard Cross.

God Bless You All
